PECKHAM IS JUBILANT. His Committeemen May, as Individuais, Prosecute Illegal Voters.

Wheeler H. Peckham, Chairman of the Committee of Fifty, appointed at the Cooper Union anti-Maynard meeting. was in a happy frame of mind this morning. Regarding the prosecution of illegal voters, he said he did not see Judge Gary Elected and Altgeld how the Committee could do anything. He did not know what evidence it had. He did not know what evidence it had. The Committee had achieved the objects for which it was appointed, and was now practically out of existence. It was possible that some individual members might see fit to cause some arrests, but he did not think the Committee itself would do so.

Mr. Peckham felt jubilant over the defeat of Maynard, but he declined to express himself further than that it was "More than satisfactory."

He had many callers, who extended their congratulations on the work the Committee had performed.
